You're invited to a kitten and puppy shower at Paws Humane Society!

COLUMBUS, GA. – (April 5th, 2021) – Kitten and puppy season is the time of year when an abundance of neonatal kittens and puppies are born, typically starting in the spring and lasting until early Winter. And while it is true animals can reproduce year-round, kittens and puppies seem to appear in animal shelters in the masses during this time. During the crucial months, Paws Humane Society is seeking help from the public with temporary specialized neonatal foster parents, and supplies to care for the hundreds of litters of newborn kittens and puppies in our care.

"Kitten and puppy season is upon us and it's already taking a toll on our foster program," says Sally Gowins, Director of Foster Relations at Paws Humane. "Fortunately, we have a team of fantastic foster parents who care for animals in need. Unfortunately, there simply aren't enough foster families to cover the vast amount of requests that are flooding in each day. By signing up to become a member of our foster team, you are not only joining a group of lifesavers whose dedication and commitment is unwavering, but you are allowing us to save more lives of the helpless, the homeless and the vulnerable."

Over the next several months, our staff, fosters, and volunteers will be undertaking lifesaving work for hundreds of homeless, young, fragile, and at-risk neonatal animals from our community.
